

HCRCC - AT THE FLYING FIELD OCTOBER DAYS

Crisp, cool mornings! Bright sunshine! Often wet grounds recording each aircraft's wheel tracks in the fresh mowed grass! All this belongs to members of HCRCC and is available currently for those who can get away and enjoy..... Georgia in the fall! JRM

At the request of the photographer, Vic Echevarria makes an "up close and personal" photo pass with his sailplane Thursday. Seems sailplanes are required for membership in the Geezer Flight. Vic has this one eating out of his hand.

Charles Trott was at the field Thursday working hard on trying to get his Senior Kadet trimmed out. He must have been doing something right because his last landing was a grease job and the round of applause signaled everyone's approval.

Walt Haller finishes up his pre-flight checks prior to putting his kit built Senior Kadet through its paces. Word has it that Walt is also building a 1/3 scale Cub presently.

Earl Alliston has been working hard on his Senior Kadet working out a number of "bugs" and today he and Jim Brooks put it through its paces and it performed quite well.

Tuesday was such a perfect day..... bright blue sky; next to no breeze at all; it was just too much for "Murph" to not bring out the big Cub and let the smoke roll.

Equipped with a Sullivan smoke system, the big Cub left vivid smoke trails that seemed to hang in the air forever. Everyone seemed to enjoy the scale flight patterns of the Cub and it just may have been the beauty of the day that had everyone in such a good mood.

"See you at the flying field" never felt so good. JRM
